

Heinen + Löwenstein

First-class medical technology

The Heinen and Löwenstein group of companies specialises in the sale, development and production of medical devices and systems. The owner-managed company employs more than 510 staff at its headquarters in Bad Ems and more than 25 branches throughout Germany.

In the 25 years of its company history, Heinen und Löwenstein has made an important contribution to the care of patients with sleep-related breathing difficulties. The spectrum extends here from treatment of obstructive sleep apnea to full-time home ventilation with the associated service provision. In the areas of neonatal care, intensive care ventilation and anaesthetics, the company manufactures its own innovative products which are used all over the world.

With its intensive research and development work, Heinen + Löwenstein always succeeds in developing new products up to readiness for the market, thereby making a significant contribution to medical progress.

In recent years, polysomnographic sleep diagnosis has grown in importance for Heinen + Löwenstein.

The company is market leader in this sector with more than 1,000 „Alice®“ polysomnography systems installed in Germany.

Building on its first-class workforce, well-established sales infrastructure and a company strategy which constantly aims at user benefit, Heinen + Löwenstein will continue to produce and sell high-quality medical devices and systems in the future - with the focus always on the customer.
